

DAILY SENTINEL

MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23

FINANCIAL & COMMERCIAL.

The money market continues depressed, and the banks have advanced their rates to 10 per cent. On the street the rates range from 12 to 20.

Where but few changes in our quotations this week. Government securities are unchanged, but firm at the rates. The market will apply to the 10 per cent. rate in fact to all the leading securities at the time. Business has been fairly good, and the stocks of our dealers were better than in some weeks.

The future will depend upon the financial policy of the Government. If a return of specie payments, and a reduction of the present enormous inflated paper currency should be determined upon, we may look for a reduction of prices. But if the present basis is continued, we may expect inflated prices as long as it continues. The return to specie payments will be the last of the next session of Congress. A large and powerful interest will oppose any change, as, under the present condition of affairs, there is a large field for speculation, and the accumulation of fortunes. But, if Congress does not provide for a reduction of the currency, all experience teaches us that the bubble will necessarily burst, causing wide-spread ruin. The whole trade of the country is now upon an artificial basis, and its necessities demand a reduction of paper currency. Money is scarce and commands a high rate as when the circulation was one-third of the present amount, and a further increase will not diminish the evil. We do not advocate a sudden change, but sound policy demands a gradual return to a gold standard—and when that point is reached, every man will know just where he stands. If it is not, we are not, to speak of the future, but of the present, the business of the country will readily adjust itself to the new order of things, and thus a ruinous revolution will be avoided, which otherwise will certainly result, and that at no distant day.

We do not hear of any operations in hogs. Cattle are being held off from the present high prices, anticipating a decline. Buyers in Cincinnati are offering $14 net, for November, and $13.50 for December. The great abundance of corn and the short crop fever is doing its work as usual, and the belief now is among many well posted, that there will be as many hogs as last year, and that they will be much fatter.

NEW YORK CITY CATTLE MARKET.

MARKET DAILY, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1905.

TOTAL RECEIPTS, OF ALL KINDS, FOR THE WEEK.

	Beef	Cow	Veal	Sheep	Pork
Total.....	3,500	1,111	21,749	19,000	17,568

REMARKS.

The total receipts are about 1,000 head less than last week, which taken alone, should cause an advance in the price of the various kinds of stock.

The large number of one week old calves, however, left a surplus in the hands of butchers. The whole sale market was quiet, and the price of the week's stock was about the same as last week, with a slight advance in the price of the week's stock.

The following are the quotations:

MEDICAL.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Compound

CEDRON BITTERS.

THE LATEST AND MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

OF THE

NINETEENTH CENTURY!!!

No man's name is more intimately connected with the history of MEDICAL MEDICINE of the Nineteenth Century than that of

DR. JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Kentucky.

His inimitable preparation of SASSAPARILLA has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug.

His Compound of WILD CHERRY has become a household word throughout the West and South.

His Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation

As wide spread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his discovery of a remedy for the cure of the disease known as CEDRON BITTERS.

This is the basis of the Bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian has defied the most deadly malarial and febrile diseases without fear the most venomous serpents. His belief with them, that while there is breath in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to endorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from the thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that as a remedy and preventative of all diseases arising from exposure, either to change of weather or climate, or to malarial influences, it stands

WITHOUT A RIVAL!

And justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies.

"THERE IS NO SUCH WORD AS FAIL."
